TELEGRAPHERS TO ESCAPE CUT IN NEXT RAIL WAGE ORDER

Labor Board Reported to Have Decided to Issue Decision Not Including Key Men, and Roads Believe That With These Men on Jobs, Strike Would Be Less Effective.

REDUCTIONS FOR 350,000 MORE MEN

Impending Decision to Hit Clerks, Stationary Firemen, Signal Men and Oilers, With Smaller Decreases for Clerks.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Railway telegraphers will not be included in the third wage reduction order of the Railroad Labor Board, according to rumors today of the new contemplated slash from railroad payrolls.

The telegraphers number approximately 11,000. So many local conditions on various lines have to be considered that deliberation of an order affecting the telegraphers would necessarily consume weeks, it was said.

New wage cuts to follow the $110,000,000 lopped off the pay checks of 500,000 maintenance-of-way employees and 400,000 shopmen, will affect 350,000 railroad clerks, signal men, stationary firemen, oilers and marine department employees, according to reports.

Chief among the groups are 220,000 clerks, 22,000 men in the signal department and 80,000 freight handlers and truckers.

Smaller reduction for Clerks. Rumors persist in predicting a smaller reduction for the clerical forces than those affecting the shopmen. The reason for this is said to be that the clerks did not receive increases proportionately as great as other groups of employees.

With the telegraphers remaining at their keys, it was predicted in some quarters that the likelihood of a strike would be lessened. Even in the event of a strike of shopmen and maintenance of way employees, some railroad experts contended that the roads could remain in operation for a considerable time if the telegraphers and trainmen did not join a walkout.

Railroad officials continue to doubt the probability of a strike. Even if the referendum, which started Tuesday should "favor a strike, some rail officials doubt whether union leaders would urge an actual walkout next month.

Rail Unions to Appeal to Harding to Prevent Further Pay Cuts.

CINCINNATI, O., June 9.—President Harding will be appealed to by the leaders of 1,200,000 railway workers, part of whom have already received wage cuts from the Railroad Labor Board, due July 1. In an effort to stave off further reductions in their pay envelopes, it was decided at a conference of rail union heads last night.

Leaders of the 11 railway employer organizations which Tuesday decided to take a strike vote of their memberships, agreed to outline a letter to the President, presenting their argument for higher wages, or at least no further reductions. A committee of union executives was appointed by B. M. Jewell, president of the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor, to draft the letter.

Approximately $110,000,000 will be lopped from the payrolls of the 400,000 shopcrafts and the 500,000 maintenance of way men under orders of the board July 1. The new rates of pay will range from 84 cents an hour for mechanics' helpers to 70 cents for mechanics. The maintenance of way men will get from 23 to 35 cents an hour.

These rates were branded as "starvation wages" by the union leaders and it is their intention, in the letter to President Harding, to demand whether the country's chief executive thinks these wages sufficient to maintain an American standard of living and properly sustain a family.

MT. EVEREST PARTY REACHES ALTITUDE OF 26,800 FEET, 2,200 FEET FROM SUMMIT

Three Members, Without Oxygen Supply, Ascend to Greatest Height Ever Attained by Mountain Climbers.

Special Cable. (Copyright, 1922.)

CAMP THREE, MOUNT EVEREST, May 22 (via Simla).—Messrs. Mattory and Somerville and Maj. Norton yesterday reached a height of 26,800 feet without oxygen and returned here today. On May 20 they had camped at 25,000 feet. They were within 2,200 feet of the summit.

LONDON, June 9.—The bulletin from Mount Everest arriving yesterday relieves the anxiety which was beginning to be felt for the Everest expedition and raised hopes of success among members of the Royal Geographical Society who have been doubtful whether human beings would be able to live at such an altitude as the summit of Mount Everest.

They were astounded to learn from Gen. Bruce's brief dispatch that three members of the party had been able to climb more than 3000 feet higher than did any member of the previous expedition, and without the aid of oxygen. It has not been believed, among experienced mountain climbers here that it was possible to exist, let alone climb, at such a height. This is the highest altitude ever reached by mountain climbers.

RONGBUK GLACIER CAMP, 14,600 feet, via Simla, June 9.—The expedition has now arrived at Rongbuk Glacier and the long trek across Tibet is finished. We arrived with a complete outfit of stores from England and therefore have a good base for beginning the attack on the great mountain. Sickness of any kind is almost completely absent.

Previous to the departure from Khampa dzong we were overtaken by Finch and Crawford who brought up the oxygen cylinders. The blizzard that had caught us at the main body caught them leaving Gnatong, and when crossing Jelepia. The snow accompanying the blizzard on the southern watershed of the range was so heavy that it lay deep all through the Chumbi Valley right into Phari dzong. They had indeed a fine entry into spring travel in Tibet, traveling as fast as the main body by way of the short cut from Phari dzong to Khampa dzong, arriving on the second day at the Nunery of Tatsung where they appear to have spent an amusing evening.

Route of Howard Bury Party Taken. The route from Khampa dzong to Shekhar dzong was exactly that taken by the Howard Bury party last year. No difficulty was experienced in crossing the Yara River, or the rather formidable sand dunes in the Arun valley. The latter was crossed in the morning before the disgusting midday winds of Tibet had arisen, the dust storm usually occurring in the afternoon being avoided. Furthermore a glorious view of Everest was obtained, filling up the whole aspect going south down the Arun valley. Everest and its great supporter, Looze, did not appear more than 20 miles distant.

At present all are working hard dividing stores and equipment, both for the establishment of the advanced base and for the greater work, a camp at 23,400 feet. At that height this first stage of the attack on Everest, the North Col camp, will be stocked with all necessary foods and the base supply of oxygen. Notwithstanding the great cold prevailing and the uncertain weather, all hope to be able to establish the base by May 20 at the latest, but will make every effort to get there sooner.

Before leaving the monastery several members of the expedition formally visited the Great Lama, who received them gravely and blessed them, wishing success to the party. They were put through searching questions as to the reasons for attempting the climb, but were able to satisfy his eminence by explaining the expedition was only a pilgrimage of exploration.

SECOND TRIAL OF ELLIS LIKELY AT THIS COURT TERM

Circuit Attorney Announces Case Will Be Set in Judge Hogan's Division—All Witnesses Available.

NEW EVIDENCE FOR THE DEFENSE CLAIMED

Supreme Court in Ordering Confession Rejected Holds Other Testimony "Pointed to Guilt" of Defendant.

By the Associated Press.

The second trial of Albert Ellis, charged with the murder of his former fiancée, Edna Ellis, who was slashed to death with a razor on a vacant lot at Glasgow avenue and North Market street, the night of Nov. 4, 1920, will be set for the June term of Judge Hogan's court, it was announced today. The June term extends through July and August and the court will be in session in those months.

All the 24 witnesses who testified for the State in Ellis' first trial, in January, 1921, are in St. Louis and will be available for the second trial. This was learned by Post-Dispatch reporters who made a canvass of the witnesses last night. Some of the 24 witnesses were policemen and police station attaches, who testified in regard to Ellis' confession, and the confession is not to be used in his second trial, they may not be needed.

The Supreme Court's decision rendered yesterday, reversing the conviction and life sentence of Ellis, and the case for a new trial, was based on the action of Judge Hartmann in admitting Ellis' signed confession in evidence. The Court held that the confession, not being voluntary, was not admissible.

UNPAID LAWYER FEES CAUSE OF 90 PCT. OF CONTINUANCES

Judge Faris, in Continuing Case in Federal Court, Says He Sympathizes With Attorneys.

Ninety per cent of the continuances granted in the Federal Court here are brought about by the difficulty of lawyers in collecting their fees, Judge Faris said today, in granting a continuance to Oct. 19, to Leo Harris, a client of Vance J. Higgs, former Special Assistant Attorney-General. The Judge said he had once practiced law and knew how it was.

Higgs asked for a continuance, saying Harris had just been surrendered and his bond and lodged in jail, but the Government announced ready for trial.

"To be frank, your honor," said Higgs, "the fee in this case was to have been paid today and it has not been paid."

"I anticipated that was your real reason," replied the Judge. "I find about 90 per cent of the continuances in this court result from this situation. I am somewhat in sympathy with it, as I practiced law myself at one time. Continue the case."

Harris is charged with stealing letters containing money from West End apartment house mail boxes.

PARIS, June 9.—That the disgraceful scenes which marked the Landru trial might not be repeated, the public was virtually excluded from the courthouse here yesterday at the opening of the trial of Mme. Besarabo, the novelist, who, with her daughter, Pauline, is accused of murdering her husband, a writer and wealthy business man.

Two years ago Mme. Besarabo confessed that she had shot her husband and then, with her daughter's aid, pressed the body into a trunk and dispatched it to Nancy, addressed to him.

While in prison the mother and daughter have sought to retract the confession and present a defense that the mother killed Besarabo in defense of her daughter's honor.

Daughter Pretty Brunette. But the first day of trial did not go well for the prisoners, who appeared in court stylishly dressed. Mme. Besarabo is strikingly masculine in appearance, with red hair and angular features. Pauline is a pretty brunette. The house counsel who defended Landru—Morgi—was defending them. Judge Gilbert also presided in the Landru case. No photographers were permitted to be present.

Mme. Besarabo, who traces her descent from the Crusaders, was brought up in a convent and went to Mexico as a journalist 10 years ago. There she married a man named Jacques, who was found shot seven years ago.

Letters written by Jacques were read yesterday in which he accused her of consorting with all sorts of bad characters, including Gigolos (Lounge Lizards). During the reading Mme. Besarabo blazed up defiantly.

"I have never had lovers. My friends were such men as Pierre Louys and Henri Bataille. If you call a spiritual alliance for writing books adultery, then I am guilty, but not otherwise."

The Outburst of a Poet. Verses were read denoting the passion for Mme. Besarabo of a young poet, whereupon she interrupted again, saying:

"Are you going to hold me responsible for the outburst of a poet?" Neither prisoner seemed particularly moved, even when the trunk which contained Besarabo's body was brought in. Ninety witnesses will be called and the trial is expected to last 10 days.

LONDON HEARS LENINE IS HOPELESSLY ILL WITH PARALYSIS

Tchitcherin Ordered Home and May Succeed Soviet Premier, Who Is Expected to Die Any Day; Some Speculation as to Part Trotsky Will Play.

BECAME A MANIAC PRIOR TO STROKE

Lenine Demanded That Villa Be Furnished With Iron Bars; Lost Speech June 1 and Has Been Sinking Rapidly.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 9.—From reliable sources it is learned Premier Lenine's condition up to a few days ago was regarded at Moscow as critical and probably hopeless, although there is no word as to any change in the intervening days.

These advices state that the Premier's recent stroke was cerebral paralysis. He had lost speech entirely on June 1 and was expected to die any day.

The Premier was possessed with a mania before the stroke came upon him, say these direct Moscow advices, and demanded that his villa be furnished with iron bars.

In view of the Premier's grave condition, Tchitcherin was ordered to return to Moscow urgently. Berlin advices, however, have stated that Tchitcherin did not consider the Premier's condition as grave and was still hopeful of recovery.

No mention of the gravity of Lenine's case has been made in Moscow and no bulletins had been issued up to June 1, although a later indefinite bulletin was issued.

Those at Moscow closely conversant with the political situation say it is impossible to determine whether Trotsky will take control in the event of Lenine's passing, though strengthening military communism, or whether there will be an increase in the prevailing movement toward the Right, or moderate wing.

THREE SEPARATE REPORTS TO HOUSE ON SHOALS OFFERS

Majority of Military Committee for Ford Plan, With Proviso That Gorgas Plant Not Be Turned Over.

ONE REPORT OPPOSES FORD'S PROPOSITION

Main Recommendation Points Out Two Courses Open to Congress: Government Operation or Sale.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Three separate reports setting forth recommendations for action by Congress with respect to private developments of the Government's $106,000,000 power and nitrate projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., were made to the House today by members of the military committee. The task of making a final decision is admitted in each report to be the duty of the full membership of the House at an early date, but recommendations to the committee, differ in important respects as they are presented in the documents.

Acting Chairman McKenzie of Illinois, who drafted the majority report, declares at the outset of that document that the "Ford proposal is the only one of the four worthy of serious consideration" and asks its acceptance by the House provided, however, that the Gorgas steam plant is not included among the projects to be disposed of at Muscle Shoals.

Concurrence in the majority report, except for references to the Gorgas plant, is voiced in one of the minority opinions presented by Representative Wright, Democrat, Georgia, and supported by Representative James, Republican, Michigan, and remaining Democratic members. They ask for full compliance by the House with all provisions of the Ford proposal, including the Gorgas property, and point out the belief that if Congress eliminates the Gorgas unit it would defeat the Ford offer.

Report Opposes Ford Offer. In the third report submitted by Representative Parker, Republican, of New Jersey, and signed by Representative Frothingham, Republican, of Massachusetts, the opinion is adverse to the acceptance of Ford's offer, unless it is modified in other respects than that calling with the Gorgas plant. In the event, Ford declined to agree to the modifications proposed, the signers would have the Secretary of War lease the dams and nitrate plant "on such terms as will secure the completion of the dams" and would authorize him to "settle the fair value of the Gorgas plant and convey the same to the Alabama Power Co."

After the presentation of documents supplied the committee during its deliberations by Secretary Weeks and other War Department officers, McKenzie, in the majority report, says in part:

"A glance at the figures set forth to date the Government has expended upon this colossal undertaking something over $106,000,000, approximately $5,000,000 of which was expended upon the Gorgas steam plant transmission line."

He then asks what Congress can do to solve the problem. develop the projects for the national good and stop the tremendous losses to the Government, caused by idleness and deterioration of the properties, adding that the courses open to Congress are:

1. Authorize the necessary appropriations for the completion of the dams and other facilities necessary to enable the operation of the plants in accordance with section 124 of the national defense act, meaning "Government ownership and operation."

2. Make the necessary appropriations to complete the project, retaining the title and amending the law in such manner as to enable the leasing of the power developed and the plants already constructed to private persons or corporations, meaning "Government ownership, but not operation."

3. Make the necessary appropriations to complete the project, retaining the title and amending the law in such manner as to enable the leasing of the power developed and the plants already constructed to private persons or corporations, meaning "Government ownership, but not operation."

Chiefs of the Railway Unions Meeting to Order Strike Vote as Result of Wage Cuts by Labor Board

The meeting was held at Cincinnati Wednesday, and the order for the strike ballot was sent out immediately after the decision, the time for the strike, if one should be ordered, to be determined later. Left to right: E. H. Fitzgerald, Frank Paquin, Timothy Healy, Edward Tegtmeyer, W. H. Johnston, D. W. Heit, E. L. Oliver, Edward Evans, H. J. Carr, J. W. Burns. At the table, wearing coats, are President Bert M. Jewell (left) and W. T. Brown.

suiling in the adoption of his proposal except in so far as it includes the Gorgas plant.

In conclusion the majority report says "action by Congress is imperative, and the immediate action means economy. If such action wisely provides for such disposition as will insure an income for the Government and not a continuous outlay."

"Federal Operation or Sale." "Two courses are open to the House," one, Government ownership and operation, which in view of the character of the project would, in the judgment of the majority of the committee, mean not only failure from the standpoint of income, but disaster to the hopes of the farmer and other users of commercial fertilizers. To have the Government undertake and engage in the manufacture of fertilizer ingredients, with political superintendents, foremen and straw bosses, is unthinkable, and to undertake such a scheme would be unspokeable folly.

"The alternative course is to let the tangible property to private individuals or to a corporation on conditions prescribed by Congress, lease the power at a fair rental and permit individual American initiative and ingenuity to have an opportunity at this place, where the greatest water power in our country can be developed, requiring a preservation of the element of national defense and at the same time, giving an opportunity for relief, if such there can be, not only to the South, but to the entire country, in the way of commercial fertilizer at reasonable prices."

The Ford proposal, the report concludes, "is the only proposal yet made by anyone that gives ground for hope, and his offer is not entirely free from objections."

Representative Wright points out in his minority report that the question of disposing of the vast properties at Muscle Shoals "is fraught with far-reaching and momentous results, and one of the greatest which has ever engaged the attention of Congress."

"The acceptance of the Ford offer," he says, "would be a disposition of this property resulting in great advantages to the Government and our people. The carrying out of the Ford offer would mean the production of almost 1,000,000 hydroelectric horsepower; the manufacture annually for 100 years of nitrogen and other commercial fertilizers; the maintenance of nitrate plant No. 2 for 100 years in its present state of readiness, or its equivalent, to be turned over to the Government for immediate operation of time of war for the production of explosives; in making navigable the Tennessee River a distance of approximately 90 miles through a section abounding in the richest and most varied material resources, such as many billions of tons of coal and iron, almost inexhaustible quantities of timber, phosphate rock, aluminum, zinc, and other minerals, and thus bring these necessary materials by water transportation within easy access to the industrial centers of the world."

The Georgia representative calls attention to the contracts made by the War Department with the Alabama Power Co., which purported to give that concern an option to purchase the Government's interest in the Gorgas power plant and makes reference to the opinions of Attorney-General Daugherty and the acting Judge Advocate General, the army pronouncing the contract invalid and unenforceable.

"We are unalterably in favor of the Government standing by its contracts," the report says, "but it would seem the one in question has neither the elements of law or morality and therefore no standing."

"Mr. Ford contends," the report adds, "that it is necessary to the economical operation of Muscle Shoals for him to have the Gorgas plant. If his revised offer for Gorgas is rejected," it declares, "then he must understand that his offer for Muscle Shoals as a whole, and not in part, is rejected."

Fault Found With Offer. Representative Parker and Frothingham find fault with the Ford offer in their report, declaring that $5,000,000 which he offers for the nitrate plants, the Waco quarry, the Gorgas steam plant, railroad, and

JUGO-SLAV KING WEDS AMID POPULAR OVATION

Representatives of All Europe Attended Marriage to Princess Marie.

By the Associated Press. BELGRADE, June 9.—King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia and Princess Marie of Rumania were married amid pomp and enthusiasm such as Belgrade had not seen since the establishment of the new kingdom. No untoward incident marred the occasion. Every step of the way to and from the cathedral was marked by endless ovations. Artillery salutes at 10 a. m. announced that the ceremony had begun, and at its conclusion, as the royal party left the cathedral, the Queen of Rumania, smiling through her tears, waved her hand towards her favorite daughter and carried her—a little human touch which caught the imagination and deeply affected the simple people.

Inside the cathedral was a scene of magnificence. Representatives of all the states of Europe attended. The scenes outside were no less gorgeous, and the streets were a feast of color. Three hundred thousand persons came to witness the marriage.

COMMISSION'S ORDER OVERRULED

Court Relieves Frisco From Stopping Trains at Festus.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, June 9.—Division No. 2 of the State Supreme Court yesterday, in an opinion by Commissioner Reeves, overruled an order of the State Public Service Commission requiring the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Co. to stop its fast trains each day at Festus, Mo.

The court held that to require these trains, which carry mail and passengers from St. Louis to Memphis, to stop at Festus, would be an interference with interstate commerce not justified by conditions. Citizens of Festus, by going a mile or two to the St. Louis & San Francisco station at Crystal City, can have access to these trains, which are compelled by operating conditions to stop there. A good concrete walk is available to them for such trip, and the court said that it was before the court on appeal from the Circuit Court of Cole County.

Miss Spies testified that she received by mail, at the telephone exchange, a package containing a two-pound box of candy. Another operator, Miss Ida Mittlinger, testified that she tasted one of the pieces of candy, and that the inside of her mouth was stung, and remained sensitive for three weeks.

Expert testimony was given to show that the candy contained mercuric chloride, or corrosive sublimate. This substance, it was testified, was found in candied cherries. The wrappers of packages sent by Rolf to his wife were shown, and Gus V. R. Mechin, handwriting expert, testified that they were addressed in the same hand as the candy packages.

Rolf denied having sent the candy, but admitted having sent some of the other packages, which were used in the handwriting testimony. Miss Spies testified that she was married to Rolf in November, 1920, and that they separated the following September, and were divorced later. She told of threats which she said he had made against her during and since their marriage.

BIG BROTHERS ADOPT ST. LOUIS PLAN OF EXCHANGING BOYS

The Big Brother and Big Sister International Federation at Minneapolis yesterday adopted the St. Louis plan for interchanging boys between cities, according to a wire received at the local organization from Milton L. Daugherty, its executive secretary, who outlined the "swapping" plan in his talk to the federation.

The plan provides that delinquent boys or those in danger of bad associations or gang influence in their home city who cannot get a fresh start, will be sent to another city. That city will send a boy in similar circumstances to St. Louis, both boys to be under the care of the Big Brother organizations.

Thomas C. Hennings, vice president of the Mercantile Trust Co., president of the Big Brother organization of St. Louis, was re-elected honorary vice president of the International Federation, and S. H. Sutland was again made a director.

Child Seriously Hurt by Auto. Jacqueline Pelcher, 7 years old, living with her grandparents at 1382A Hodiamont avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by DeWight Thomas, 27 Windermer place, while crossing the street in front of her home about 3:30 p. m. today. She suffered several broken ribs, an injury to the skull and serious internal injuries.

ALLEGED SWINDLER CAUGHT IN STREET CHASE

Tailor Sees Man Who, He Says, Talked Him Out of $2600 and Calls Police.

Simon Solomon of 1366A Shawmut place, a tailor, who last week told the police he had discovered that a glib talker had "done" him out of $2600 and had disappeared, yesterday encountered his man on Seventh street, near Market street. He began crying out for a policeman. The man ran, but there was a policeman at Chestnut street, who caught his quarry in a brief chase, which ended with the man falling. The fall dislocated the man's left wrist. He was William E. Maple, 42 years old, a salesman, living at a hotel at 2127 Locust street, whom Solomon accuses of being the smooth talker. He was taken to the city hospital, where he is held prisoner. He denied Solomon's charge.

This is Solomon's story of Maple's winning ways, as related to a Post-Dispatch reporter last week: Maple came to his tailoring shop downtown a year ago and said he had a scheme by which they would both get rich, the organization of a national chain of clothing stores with their own factory at Springfield, Ill. Solomon advanced Maple $2300 "for organization purposes," got two friends to advance $100 each and indorsed a note for $100. Since he must make good the smaller obligations, Solomon feels he is out $2600, for he learned, he declared, that no company had been organized and no factory started.

Maple told a reporter today that it was all just the other way. He knew Solomon two years, he said, and last year the tailor suggested the store scheme to him. He consented to lend his executive talent and did accept some money advanced by Solomon, but $2600, he was certain, was much too much for the amount. He toured Northern Missouri since April interesting merchants in the scheme and didn't try to dodge Solomon. He ran yesterday for fear Solomon was going to hit him. The clothing company was about to start, he said, but for the fact it was "insolvent, due to legitimate business conditions."

CONVICTION IN LIQUOR CASE REVERSED BY SUPREME COURT

Evidence on Which Abe Goldfeder Was Found Guilty of Theft Held Insufficient.

The case of Abe Goldfeder, convicted of grand larceny in connection with the theft of several barrels of whisky March 6 and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, was reversed by the Supreme Court yesterday and remanded for a new trial. The Supreme Court held the evidence was insufficient. Goldfeder and William Henfling were arrested two weeks after the theft of about $6000 worth of whisky from the warehouse of the G. H. Meyer Distilling Co., 1224 Franklin avenue, when they went to a garage in Benton place, where the stolen whisky had been stored. Henfling was sent to prison at Leavenworth, Kan., on a previous charge of stealing from an interstate shipment.

Goldfeder, at his trial, maintained that he had gone to the garage to buy whisky, and that he did not know the liquor stored there had been stolen.

GRADUATE WORE TURBAN INSTEAD OF MORTAR BOARD AT EXERCISES

Washington U. Student From India Exception Because of His Religious Affiliations.

Because of his affiliations with the Sikhs, a religious sect of India, his native land, Kehar Singh Chouke, 26 years old, wore his turban instead of the customary mortar board at the graduation exercises at Washington University yesterday. Chouke, who entered the School of Medicine of Washington University two years ago, received his M. D. degree here, already having received his B. M. degree from the University of Agra, at Agra, India.

Finishing with one of the highest averages made in the School of Medicine, Chouke has been appointed an instructor in anatomy in the School of Medicine and will begin teaching next fall. A photograph of Chouke, made at the commencement exercises, is on today's pictorial page. Chin-Sheng Wu of Amoy, China, the other foreigner of the School of Medicine's graduating class, also was one of the students of the class leading in scholarship. He has been a student of Washington University for four years, and is planning to work on a fellowship in pathology at Washington next year. He received an M. D. degree yesterday.

RUNAWAY COAL PRICES STOPPED, SAYS HOOVER

Commerce Secretary Replies to Agitation in Senate Over Strike Situation.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 9.—A statement from Secretary Hoover declaring "the essential thing about coal prices is that the runaway market has been stopped" was the latest development today in connection with agitation in the Senate over the strike situation and the plan adopted by the secretary for holding prices at a fair level during the tie-up of the industry.

Issued after the assertion by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, on the Senate floor yesterday, that the public patience was being exhausted by coal operators taking advantage of agreements reached with Hoover to boost prices to retailers, the secretary's statement declared that "some of the Senators have been misinformed by misleading statements from a small group of retailers who object strenuously to any attempt to restrain prices."

Hoover's reply to the National Retail Coal Merchants' Association took issue with representations that an advance of $1.50 a ton for coal to the householders was warranted. He declared that such a change of view after recent promises of cooperation did not represent the vast majority of retailers.

FINED FOR HURLING CUSPIDOR IN COURT

Man Knocks Down Brother-in-Law With Missile After Sister Paints on Stand.

Everett L. Baggett of the McKnight and McCutcheon roads, St. Louis County, was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $50 by Circuit Judge McElhinney in Clayton yesterday after he had thrown a cuspidor and an inkwell at his brother-in-law, Anthony Wayth, of 5027 Maffitt avenue, during a trial to ascertain their financial obligations to one another.

The cuspidor floored Wayth and the inkwell hit him on the head, cutting a gash which required several stitches.

Baggett's outbreak occurred after his sister, Mrs. Lulu Gardner, of 5027 Maffitt avenue, had fainted at the conclusion of her testimony. He declared that Wayth had applied a vile name to Mrs. Gardner, though no audible remarks preceded his rising and hurling the cuspidor. Wayth warded off the missile with his arm, but it floored him and caused a large abrasion on his arm. As he lay, Baggett, with true aim, hurled the inkwell.

Baggett appealed the jail sentence and fine on the contempt charge and gave bond under a warrant sworn to by Wayth charging assault with intent to kill.

MAN ARRIVES FROM EUROPE ON MISSION CONCERNING MAX OSER
Friend of McCormick Family Expected to Tell About Swiss Riding Master.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 9.—Saverio Dati, a dignified old man of 70, arrived yesterday on the Fabre Line steamship Providence from Marseilles on a mission concerning Max Oser, the Swiss riding master, who is engaged to marry Miss Mathilde McCormick of Chicago. It is said that Dati knows Oser well and is to tell the McCormicks all about him. Dati would neither deny or affirm that he had come on behalf of Oser, or that he had been commissioned by Mrs. McCormick to investigate Oser's life. It was learned, however, that he has known the Rockefeller family since before the war and he helped members of the Rockefeller and McCormick families who were in Europe to return here at the outbreak of hostilities. He speaks five or six languages. The Dati was met at the pier and taken away in a touring car said to be owned by Mrs. Marcellus Hartley Dodge, a daughter of William Rockefeller. She is first cousin to Mrs. Harold McCormick, Mathilde's mother. It was learned that Dati, years ago, was a famous Swiss guide. At the Dodge residence it was said the family had gone to Madison, N. J., for the summer.

NO USE TO SALT DYE IN YOUR SUMMER FROCK

Textile Chemist Tells K S D Listeners Some Facts About Colors and Fabrics.

There is no such thing as "setting" a color in your summer frock. That is the statement of a textile chemist made by radiophone to several thousand persons listening in on the program broadcast by Station K S D of the Post-Dispatch last night.

"If it were possible to make a color fast by the addition of a simple ingredient like salt you may be very sure that the chemist in the factory where the goods were woven would have added some salt," said the speaker, Miss Ruth O'Brien, professor of textile chemistry in the Iowa State College at Ames. "Soaking a piece of colored cotton or linen in salt water will no more set the color than soaking it in clear water. If the color is fast, or permanent, it will not run. If it is a dye which will run in washing, then all the 'setting' by artificial means you can do will not keep it perfect."

Miss O'Brien explained that the question of permanency of color depends not on the color, but on the process by which that color is made. The same color may be fast when it is produced in one way and fugitive when produced in another way, she said. Direct colors are the cheapest and most fugitive. Sulphur colors, those containing sulphur, are better, but the best of all are the vat colors. These also are the most expensive, and fabrics dyed with them cost much more than those dyed with the other colors.

The Blues and the Reds.

"Do not make the mistake of thinking that because a thing is blue it will fade, and because it happens to be red it will not fade. Many reds fade more quickly than some blues. Learn to talk of colors in terms of class, not in terms of colors."

In discussing fabrics, which was the announced theme of her address, Miss O'Brien told why some clothes wear well, while others do not, taking up the process of manufacture from the raw material and telling of the different "yarns" as she designated the threads composing the fabric.

"Be sure you are buying a full inch of yarn and not half an inch of yarn and half an inch of holes when you purchase your cotton and linen material," she warned, "and that the yarns are the same size throughout, not one heavy one and the next a thin one. Also, look well to the quantity of sizing or dressing in the material. Many times you will find a very loosely woven fabric with the holes filled up with the sizing. To ascertain how much of the thickness of the fabric is sizing and how much is actual cotton or linen, rub it between the hands to break up the sizing."

Another pet theory exploded by Miss O'Brien is that pure linen can be known by the spreading of moisture, while cotton fabric will show no spread. This all depends upon the sizing, she said, and upon the amount of mercerized cotton in the mixture. Her conclusion on this point was that the only reliable way to know about a piece of goods is to examine it under a microscope in a laboratory.

The Thrill of Ballooning.

Another speaker last night from Station K. S. D. was Bernard von Hoffman, son of Albert von Hoffman, who has followed his father as a devotee of the sport of ballooning. The younger von Hoffman has taken part in the last three international balloon races, and was one of the contestants in the balloon race starting last month from Milwaukee. He described the evolution of air travel from the fabled days of the magic carpet and the wax and feather wings of Aegaeus and his son to the present, and then told some of his own experiences.

"The thrill of ballooning," he declared, "is not speed and not altitude, but in the absolute uncertainty of the destination and direction of travel."

"The balloonist goes into the air at the mercy of the winds. He is able only to choose which of the wind currents to be found he desires, but he finds his real thrill in the romance of the unknown, the fascination of the uncertainty of the ever-changing conditions of the air."

DENBY AND PARTY AT SAN DIEGO

By the Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 3.—Secretary Denby of the Navy Department will leave San Diego tonight after a two-day visit. The Secretary accompanied members of the Annapolis class of 1881, who are going to Japan, to attend a class reunion there on July 4.

Secretary Denby will spend today in becoming personally acquainted with the personnel of the navy and Marine Corps here and in visiting the shore bases and the marine equipment. After his inspection of navy and marine facilities yesterday, which was made in part from a navy seaplane that afforded a general view of the different units and their relation to each other, the Secretary spoke at a review following a luncheon.

BIRTH CERTIFICATES TO PARENTS

Certificates of birth henceforth will be mailed to parents by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Health Department as a measure to encourage parents to insist that physicians and midwives report births as they are required by law.

The certificates are not so ornate as marriage certificates but bear the great seal of the State of Missouri.

POTTERY INTERESTS NOT OVERLOOKED IN AWARDING OF TARIFF BILL BOUNTIES

Proposed Schedules Would Permit 10 to 20 Per Cent Increase in Prices and Drive Foreign Wares from Market.

A careful inquiry into the provisions of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill now pending in Congress has been made by the Post-Dispatch and New York World. The results of this investigation in which each of the provisions of the measure are reviewed will be presented in a series of articles, the fifth of which follows herewith.

By ELLIOTT THURSTON.

(Copyright, 1922, by the Post-Dispatch and New York World, Inc., and the Post-Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, June 9.—American pottery interests have not been overlooked in the wholesale awarding of bounties to powerful beneficiaries of the Republican tariff makers. Wrapped up in the china-ware and earthenware schedules of the proposed Fordney-McCumber tariff bill are more prospective high prices for the public, driving from the market decorative foreign wares, and another typical tale of how the Fordney-McCumber measure was made.

Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, B. E. Salisbury, president of the Onondaga Pottery Co. of Syracuse, N. Y., and vice president of the Pottery Association, and William Burgess, now a member of the United States Tariff Commission and a former lobbyist for the pottery interests, are the figures behind the scenes in the concoction of the contemplated duties on chinaware and earthenware.

Meaning of Schedule. If their desires come to full fruition in the passage of the Fordney-McCumber bill the public will feel the effects in this wise:

Many varieties of delicate chinaware made only in Japan and China and therein no way competitive with American products, will be subjected to prohibitive taxes that will either keep out the Oriental wares or force housewives to pay much higher prices. This will enable the potters to load the market with vastly inferior substitutes.

Retail prices of all imported chinaware, representing the enormous range of tableware and decorative articles, found in about every American home in one form or another, will automatically be forced up from 10 to 20 per cent, according to the estimates of retail merchants, wholesalers and customs appraisers who have analyzed the substance—is not made in America. American potters make what they call chinaware, but every woman shopper knows the difference between that kind of chinaware, which is thick, heavy and poorly decorated, and the imported chinaware, which is light, almost transparent and decorated with the inimitable native skill of the Japanese.

The American potters make what their English competitors more accurately call earthenware. Fortified with the raising of the tariff wall, they would have an opportunity to sell this earthenware to the public in substitution for the genuine china. They have not been able to make many prized varieties of chinaware. But by making prices prohibitive they can compel the consumer to put up with poor imitations.

The Proposed Duties.

Even the present Underwood tariff bill placed high duties of 50 per cent on plain and 55 per cent on decorated chinaware. That was in the nature of a luxury tax for revenue purposes, but it was regarded as a very heavy tax. The proposed duties are 60 per cent on plain and 70 cents on decorated chinaware, higher than the unpopular Payne-Adams tariff of 1909.

Investigation of the super-lobbying that resulted in this increase on an already highly taxed product brings to light these features:

Sensor Frelinghuysen, as super-lobbyist for the Trenton Pottery interests of his State, forced his Republican colleagues to give him these rates. It is common gossip in the Senate cloakrooms that one of the staunchest of high protectionists on the Finance Committee rebelled and gave notice that he would refuse to defend the added tax. The New Jersey Senator was told he would have to do his fighting alone when the schedule came up for debate on the floor of the Senate.

In framing the schedule the Republican leaders called in the supposedly disinterested and impartial U. S. Tariff Commission, specifically Commissioner Burgess. Incidentally, the Tariff Commission's data on chinaware was surprisingly incomplete compared with its other findings. The digest prepared by that body "for the use of the Senate Committee on Finance," as it is labeled, reads like a brief submitted by a pleader for high rates.

Gist of Tariff Commission Report.

Inquiry into the activities of tariff by Burgess discloses these enlightening details:

For years he was the regular delegate lobbyist for the pottery industry in his home town of Trenton. He was at one time a vice president of the Pottery Association. He was a principal speaker last December at a session held by the Pottery Association in the New Willard Hotel here. He sat in at secret meetings after newspaper reporters had been asked to leave.

When the pottery duties came up for debate in the Senate recently, Burgess appeared in the Senate gallery. With him was Vice President Salisbury of the Pottery Association, and to prove that no hostility existed between them, Salisbury's arm was around Burgess' shoulders. Down on the floor of the Senate stood Senator Frelinghuysen defending single-handed his pottery duties. And frequently the New Jersey Senator's eyes wandered to the gallery, whereupon the companionable speculators up there smiled approval and Senator Frelinghuysen acknowledged the encouragement with more smiles.

The foregoing is of more moment when taken with these additional facts:

The expert who sat at the New Jersey Senator's side and prompted him while Senator Jones of New Mexico tore the mask from the pottery duties had been specially assigned to that duty by Tariff Commissioner Burgess.

Frelinghuysen's Argument.

Sensor Frelinghuysen pleaded for the potters on the general contention that competition was driving them into bankruptcy. Yet for several months the Department of Justice has been conducting an investigation of the pottery interests on suspicion of price-fixing and concerted action in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws. The suspicion is founded largely on the fact that for years pottery prices have moved as precisely as if governed by a single hand.

Government statistics at the same time reflect an amazing prosperity in the pottery business. As shown by statistics gathered from the Internal Revenue Department, the net profits of 36 representative concerns were 25 per cent in 1918, 24 per cent in 1919 and the dazzling total of more than 22 per cent in 1920. Those figures represent the net profits on capital invested as reported in income tax returns. And nobody is ever accused of padding income tax returns.

As for the expansion of the industry, under the Underwood tariff now in force, but considered insufficient protection, production increased from $17,000,000 in 1914 to $40,000,000 in 1920, whereas the average net income of the pottery makers was $861,000 in 1913, it reached the astonishing total of $4,416,000 in 1920.

Dentists say USE BOTH!

It's the THOROUGHNESS with which the Sanitol dental combination cleanses your teeth that appeals to dentists

Tooth surfaces, brushed white and lustrous with Tooth Paste — your good looks, your self-respect depend on that!

Crevices, flushed pure and clean with Liquid Antiseptic — the very life of your teeth demands this!

The Sanitol dental combination not only whitens your teeth but penetrates cracks and crevices, flushes away sticky fermenting particles of food, hardens the gums with a slight astringent, sweetens the breath, and gives your entire mouth the exhilarating feeling of perfect cleanliness and sweetness!

Stop decay!
The good work of Sanitol Tooth Paste is completed by Sanitol Liquid Antiseptic. Only both, working one with the other, can so thoroughly cleanse all parts of your teeth and mouth as to prevent decay and its sad consequences.

Not medicated
Dentists supply medication—a tooth paste should do one thing only: Cleanse the surfaces of your teeth. Sanitol Tooth Paste does this, and besides, it is prepared without sugar which draws away lime needed to strengthen your teeth. Absolutely no grit! Formulated by a practicing dentist, compounded by skilled chemists, worked into a consistency of utmost smoothness, the basis of Sanitol Tooth Paste is calcium carbonate—calcium carbonate of pure-white, imported precipitated, silky fineness.

Finest cleansing base
Calcium carbonate produces an alkaline reaction. This neutralizes acidity of the mouth. Any dentist will tell you that when this ingredient is imported and precipitated it is the finest dental cleansing base known to Science. Nor would we make Sanitol soapy—because a soapy tooth paste tends to slide over instead of thoroughly cleansing the smooth surfaces of the teeth. Snow-white Sanitol creams fragrant and flavorful on your brush. You'll like its cooling pep-permintness! What clean, white surfaces it does make and keep upon your teeth! But do not stop with this.

Follow through Finish with Sanitol Liquid Antiseptic—a supplementary cleanser based upon a fact, splendidly simple—that a fluid can flow where a brush cannot reach. Where Sanitol Tooth Paste stops, Sanitol Liquid Antiseptic begins! Feel with your tongue the cramped space that gums, jaws and teeth allow for brushing your big, back molars. These are seldom thoroughly cleaned.

Feel how close together all your teeth grow. The bristles of your brush simply cannot push through the narrow spaces between teeth and clear away clinging bits of food. But Sanitol Liquid Antiseptic can get in there—there where decay begins. Stop decay at its source!

Buy singly or together
You owe it to yourself not only to cleanse surfaces of your teeth but also those germ-breeding crevices where decay starts.

Use the simple, modern, easy Sanitol dental combination. Prevent film, tartar, inflammation and decay. Harden your gums. Keep those irritated, sensitive over-brushed tissues, where Pyorrhea develops, soothed and healthy with Sanitol Liquid Antiseptic.

Bathe the tender parts with cooling, invigorating antiseptics, gargle your throat, sweeten the breath and refresh your entire mouth.

Dentists say "USE BOTH"
Your dentist will advise you to use a tooth paste for surfaces of teeth and a liquid antiseptic for hard-to-brush places.

In the Sanitol dental combination you secure the lowest-priced, most effective tooth paste and liquid antiseptic on the market.

Look at the pre-war prices! Weigh in your hand the big tube of tooth paste.

Bear in mind that Sanitol Liquid Antiseptic, unlike other mouth washes, is concentrated! It takes only a few drops to prepare a strong, stimulating, antiseptic solution.

Freshen up
This refreshing combination is a real treat. It is an inexpensive treat. The cost of both is probably no more than you are now paying for tooth paste alone. Besides, an ounce of Sanitol prevention is worth a pound of cures. Step into your day's work with that well-groomed freshened-up Sanitol feeling in your mouth.

Yes, for good-looks' sake, keep your precious enamel white with Sanitol. But the very life of your teeth depends upon your reaching with Sanitol antiseptics those unbrushed crevices where germs multiply.

SOLDIER BONUS BILL ON SENATE CALENDAR

No Definite Time, However, Set for Consideration — Opponents Prepared to Fight.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 9.—The soldiers' bonus bill was on the Senate calendar today, but there was no definite time fixed for its consideration. Chairman McCumber of the Finance Committee reported the measure last night by unanimous consent.

Senator McCumber desires to have the Senate consider the bill in the near future, but some leaders on the Republican side oppose his plan, believing it unwise to displace the tariff bill.

That there are sufficient votes to pass a bonus bill is conceded by opponents, but whether the measure can be put through in its present form is problematical. The Democrats plan to offer an amendment embodying a cash feature, while Senator Bureau, Republican, New Mexico, has a bill in providing for a cash bonus. Many other amendments will be offered, and opponents of bonus legislation in any form are prepared to wage a determined fight.

Supporters of the amended House bill apparently are giving little consideration now as to how President

Harding views the measure as it came from the Finance Committee.
The legislation has been outlined to him in detail, but so far as has been made known he has not given an opinion to the Finance Committee.
Some of those who have called on him recently, however, have indicated that he has not altered his opinion that any bonus legislation passed should carry a means of financing it.

MCKINLEY RUNNING AS OLD LINE REPUBLICAN

Uniform Without Deviation
Follows Reports Old Guard Chiefs Will Back Him.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 9.—John C. McKinley of Unionville, formerly Lieutenant-Governor and former State Senator, aspirant to the Republican nomination for United States Senator, declared today that he is running on a platform of Republicanism without any deviation. McKinley's platform becomes of particular interest because the underground telegraph lines in the Republican party have conveyed some within the last few days unmistakable intimations that the "old guard" chieftains of Western and rural Missouri are preparing to make their fight for the senatorial nomination behind McKinley.

"I am opposed to the League of Nations, or to any political entanglements with the nations of Europe," McKinley said today. "I believe that the United States should collect all of the money that Europe owes her. It occurs to me that many of the persons who are pushing about preaching that we should rehabilitate Europe have some concrete interest at stake. Some of them may plan to profit by the sale of bonds of these foreign countries that need help. Or some of them may hold obligations of these nations, which they want to collect. "I believe in a protective tariff and I favor internal improvements, especially in the building of roads.

"I believe in prohibition now that we have it, although I was opposed to it before. I never took a drink of beer in my life, but I believe in the broadest measure of personal liberty consistent with the public welfare."

McKinley expects to make few speeches unless the constitutional convention, to which he is a delegate, takes a recess, which he favors, but said he would not urge this, because as a candidate his motives might be misunderstood. He intends to wage a vigorous letter-writing campaign, however.

Leaders of all factions of the party are watching the developments surrounding McKinley with considerable interest, because of large strength in previous campaigns of several years ago, with conservative Republican voters in the hill country and rural communities generally. Talk here already lists him as the probable favorite of the Dickey-McKinsey-Morris coalition, which is one of the recognized powers in "Old Guard" ranks.

The more important Hyde appointees appear to be for Brewster, though some of the others are for Barrett. Support of the employees of other State officers appears to be about evenly divided, though we should rehabilitate Europe have some concrete interest at stake. Some

Cool as an off-water breeze

The difference between wearing a woolen suit and a Palm Beach is the difference between a hot city street and the beach.

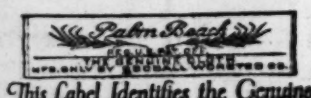

The first purpose of a Palm Beach Suit is to keep the wearer cool. Body heat escapes because of the nature of the cloth. The breezes blow through it.

But coolness isn't all. There's long wear and there are as many colors, patterns, and designs—as much choice as you have in woolens. Palm Beach Suits are light-weight, but the color may be light, dark, or medium as you prefer.

As for style and fit, they depend on where you buy Palm Beach Suits and who tailors them—as the style and fit of all suits do.

Golf Knickers made of Palm Beach are cool and good-looking—practical and durable.

ARMY GRAVELY CONCERNED OVER PASSING OF THE "BUCK"
"The Buddies With the Bayonet" Bearing Brunt of Each Reduction in Forces.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 9.—Examination of War Department statistics obtained today discloses that doughboys, just plain "buck privates," of infantry, are becoming almost as scarce in the army as Second Lieutenants were awhile back.
The "buddies" with the bayonet are the men relied on to win victories.
"Yet it is of necessity that the buck private in foot regiments bear the brunt of every successive reduction in army strength," Congress has ordained the reduction, and the number of the plain, humble, unspecialized "bucks" has dwindled until there is grave concern in the army over the problem of disappearing doughboys.
On April 30, 1917, there were 53,165 enlisted men in the infantry. Today, with the total strength of the army considerably higher, there are 47,837 men in the foot regiments and probably, it is said, not 20,000 of these are to be classified as just plain "buck" privates.
Major-General Harbord, Deputy Chief of Staff, pointed out the situation in the testimony before the Senate Military Committee.

HARDWARE AND BAKERY
'BLUE LAW' REPEAL LOST

Aldermen Say Those Affected
Do Not Wish Change Now—
City Journal to Be Retained.

An attempt to repeal a "blue law" ordinance, prohibiting the sale of hardware and similar articles on Sunday and requiring the closing of bakery shops after 9 a. m. on Sunday, was "killed" yesterday by the Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen, which ordered the repeal bill, introduced by Alderman Heckel of the Thirteenth Ward, filed with the board.

Heckel, who is a member of the committee, was not present to defend the bill and the committee lost no time in burying it. Members of the committee said few shopkeepers now required to close on Sunday desired a change in the ordinance.

The committee also took unfavorable action on a bill by Alderman Wampler of the Seventh Ward, seeking to abolish the printing of the City Journal and to require that the city printing be done in daily papers, one English and one German paper. Comptroller Nolte recently stated the City Journal was saving money for the city in publication costs.

Favorable report was made on another bill by Alderman Heckel, amending the present ordinance governing the providing of bonds in police court. The Heckel bill would prevent acceptance as a bondsman of any person against whom is pending an unsatisfied judgment rendered in forfeiture of a bond given in City Court.

Adverse action was taken on a bill by Alderman Wampler, Twenty-seventh Ward, which would establish a complicated system of whistle signals by traffic officers to control traffic movement at street intersections. Another bill which would prohibit driving of any business or commercial vehicle weighing more than 2000 pounds over thoroughfares designated as boulevards, except for a distance of two blocks, was held over by the committee.

SNAPPY VIEWS OF US
BY DEAN OF ST. PAUL'SLondon Pastor Finds 'Curious Mixture of Idealism and Chicanery in American Character.Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1932, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc., New York World.LONDON, June 5.—"As friendship with America is now the 'sheet
anchor of our policy,'" said Dean Jesse of St. Paul's, in an article in the Evening Standard yesterday,
"there is an urgent need to remove all traces of misunderstanding."
Among his witty snapshots on America are the following:"The two countries have never understood each other. The misunderstanding has been often inconvenient and sometimes dangerous.""It is doubtful whether we have improved matters by the meanly mouthed flattery which is accustomed to use in public, though not in private, when we speak of America.""Knowledge that we could not defend Canada from invasion has led us to put up with affronts from the United States which we should not have stood from any other nation.""The fault, in my opinion, has been almost all on the side of America. It is right to remember we used their friendship much more than they need ours, and that we have to thank them for that marvelous unretorted frontier of nearly 4000 miles between Canada and the United States.""They care more what we think of them than we care what they think of us.""I don't think they care more for money than we do. Money making, for that matter, is a great game—not I am afraid, one that is always a very honorable one.""There is a curious mixture of idealism and chicanery in the American character."Dean Inge declares that, in spite of all disagreements, "we must never cease to work what would be the greatest of all safeguards for peace—a firm alliance and friendship between all English-speaking nations among whom the United States must be the largest and the most powerful."STATEMENT OF EVIDENCE AND OPINION OF SUPREME COURT ON ELLIS CASE

soon and again before daylight on Sunday morning to go with the police officers to the vacant lot, where deceased was murdered, and then while it was yet night to go to the undertakers, and there stand before the body of the deceased while a light was flashed on her face. He was required to put his hand on the corpsa.Under such circumstances the confession was not voluntary and should have been excluded by the Court.
(State v. Powell, 258 Mo. 238, 1 c.
248 and 249; 167 S. W. 559; State v.
Powell, 266 Mo. 100, 1 c. 107 and 108; 180 S. W. 851; State v. Thomas, 218 Mo. 139, 1 c. 212; 157 S.
W. 330; Bram v. United States, 168
U. S. 532; 16 C. J. 720.)

Conduct of Police Confirmed.

The conduct of the police officers in needlessly laying hands on a helpless man, while being detained without warrant deserves the severest censure. (People v. Trybus, 219
N. Y. 118; 113 N. E. 538; Hector v.
State, 2 Mo. 166; 12 Cyc. 475.)The Circuit Attorney apparently doubted the competency of said written confessions, for he did not at first offer them in evidence, but called the Warden of the jail, to whom appellant had made a confession on Tuesday following the inquisition of the police that continued from Saturday morning until the following Monday. It was contended by the State's Attorney that even if the original confessions were involuntary, the appellant had been removed from the influence which prompted such confessions, and that his admissions of guilt and the details thereof, as given to the Warden of the city jail, were wholly voluntary.No effort was made by the State to show that the influences operating to produce the original confessions had been removed and that the appellant was no longer influenced by such influences. This burden was on the State. If the first confession was coerced by intimidation and fear, the presumption would arise that a second confession was the product of the same influence (16 C. J. 722; State v. Jones, 64 Mo. 478; State v. Brown, 73 Mo.
531.)Conclusion as to Confessions.
A prisoner who had been thus subjected to such rigid inquiry with violence to his person; who had witnessed the grievous and uncanny scenes mentioned and to whom food and sleep had been denied for so long would not immediately thereafter be freed from the dominating influences of his experience and a confession shortly after such treatment had ceased would, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be adjudged involuntary.Under the circumstances, complaints with respect to the admission and exclusion of testimony during the trial need not be noticed. For the error of the court as above stated, the case must be reversed and remanded for a new trial and it is so ordered.

ALBERT C. REEVES.

Railey, C. Concur.
White, C. Not sitting.FEB CURIAM: The foregoing opinion by Reeves, C., is adopted as the opinion of the Court. All concur.

TO 32 ORGANIZATIONSIf Fellow Members Voted for Joseph C. Schroeder at Primary
Why, He'd Be Nominated.If Joseph C. Schroeder, candidate for the Republican nomination for Prosecuting Attorney, could get the support of all his fellow members in fraternal, political, civic and business organizations, the five candidates opposing him would be relegated to the "scattering" list on primary day.Schroeder is a member of 32 organizations that he can recall right now, and possibly some others that have slipped his memory. He tries to attend the stated meetings of each, though of course there are some conflicts. He pays his dues, and he figured the other day that these come to $263.75 a year.There are not enough evenings in the month for Schroeder to attend all the meetings, if all the organizations met once a month. Some of them meet oftener. So Schroeder simply does the best he can. He is a bachelor, so that there is no one to complain about his absence from home in the evening. His domicile is at 1802 Oregon avenue.

Schroeder's Own List.

One of the most exclusive bodies on Schroeder's list, and one of the most important at a time like this, is the Republican City Committee.

bership in the committee was approved by a majority of Fifteenth Ward Republican voters in the 1920 primary.Schroeder's own list of the organizations of which he is a member is as follows:American Bar Association, Mis-

The Vocalion

Just as the orchestra leader directs his musicians—you can direct the Vocalion's music.

AND the Vocalion is the only phonograph that gives you that fascinating privilege. By using its wonderful and exclusive feature, the Graduola, you can shade the intensity of tone from moment to moment. Very little practice will enable you to achieve delicate and artistic effects.

In keeping with its marvelous feature of tone-control, the Vocalion is in every way a superb instrument—unrivalled in splendor and clearness of tone, unsurpassed in grace and richness of cabinet design.

Cabinet style Vocalions, $45 to $300; art styles, $245 to $2000. Convenient terms on any model. Test the Vocalion's abilities—see it, hear it, direct its music—

by PROF. HENDRIK VAN LOON

Publication of this absorbingly interesting story of the human race was begun Monday, May 29, in the Post-Dispatch. Back numbers can be had on application at the Post-Dispatch business office.

THE FALL OF ROME.—Continued.

THEN at last the imperial city sank into a state of utter neglect and despair. The ancient palaces had been plundered time and again. The schools had been burned down. The teachers had been starved to death. The rich people had been thrown out of their villas, which were now inhabited by evil-smelling and hairy barbarians. The roads had fallen into decay. The old bridges were gone and commerce had come to a standstill. Civilization—the product of thousands of years of patient labor on the part of Egyptians and Babylonians and Greeks and Romans, which had lifted man high above the most daring dreams of his earliest ancestors, threatened to perish from the Western continent. It is true that in the Far East, Constantinople continued to be the center of an empire for another thousand years. But it hardly counted as a part of the European continent. It began to forget its Western origin. Gradually the Roman language was given up for the Greek. The Roman alphabet was discarded and the Roman law was written in Greek characters and explained by Greek judges. The emperor became an Asiatic despot, worshiped as the god-like kings of the East. Thebes had been worshiped in the valley of the Nile, 3000 years before. When missionaries of the Byzantine church looked for fresh fields of activity, they went eastward and carried the civilization of Byzantium into the vast wilderness of Russia. As for the West, it was left to the mercies of the barbarians. For 12 generations, murder, war, arson, plundering were the order of the day. One thing—and one thing alone—saved Europe from complete destruction, from a return to the days of cave men and the hyena.

This was the church—the flock of humble men and women who for many centuries had confessed themselves the followers of Jesus, the Carpenter of Nazareth, who had been killed that the mighty Roman Empire might be saved the trouble of a street riot in a little city somewhere along the Syrian frontier.

RISE OF THE CHURCH.

How Rome Became the Center of the Christian World.

The average intelligent Roman who lived under the empire had taken very little interest in the gods of his fathers. A few times a year he went to the temple, but merely as a matter of custom. He looked on patiently when the people celebrated a religious festival with a solemn procession. But he regarded the worship of Jupiter and Minerva and Neptune as something rather childish, a survival from the crude days of the early republic and not a fit subject of study for a man who had mastered the works of the Stoics and the Epicureans and the other great philosophers of Athens.

This attitude made the Roman a very tolerant man. The Government insisted that all people, Romans, foreigners, Greeks, Babylonians, Jews, should pay a certain outward respect to the image of the Emperor which was supposed to stand in every temple, just as a picture of the President of the United States is apt to hang in an American post office. But this was a formality without any deeper meaning. Generally speaking everybody could honor, revere and adore whatever gods he pleased, and as a result Rome was filled with all sorts of queer little temples and synagogues, dedicated to the worship of Egyptian and African and Asiatic divinities.

When the first disciples of Jesus reached Rome and began to preach their new doctrine of a universal brotherhood of man, nobody objected. The man in the street stopped and listened. Rome, the capital of the world, had always been full of wandering preachers, each proclaiming his own "mystery." Most of the self-appointed priests appealed to the senses—promised golden rewards and endless pleasures to the followers of their own particular god. Soon the crowd in the street noticed that the so-called Christians (the followers of the Christ, or "anointed") spoke a very different language. They did not appear to be impressed by great riches or a noble position. They extolled the beauties of poverty and humility and meekness. These were not exactly the virtues which had made Rome the mistress of the world. It was rather interesting to listen to a "mystery" which told people in the heyday of their glory that their worldly success could not possibly bring them lasting happiness.

Besides, the preachers of the Christian mystery told dreadful stories of the fate that awaited those who refused to listen to the words of the true God. It was never wise to take chances. Of course the old Roman gods still existed, but were they strong enough to protect their friends against the powers of this new deity who had been brought to Europe from distant Asia? People began to have doubts. They returned to listen to further explanations of the new creed. After a while they began to meet the men and women who preached the words of Jesus. They found them very different from the average Roman priests. They were all dreadfully poor. They were kind to slaves and to animals. They did not try to gain riches. They gave away whatever they had. The example of their unselfish lives forced many Romans to forsake the old religion. They joined the small communities of Christians who met in the back rooms of private houses or somewhere in an open field, and the temples were deserted.

This went on year after year and the numbers of Christians continued to increase. Presbyters or priests (the original Greek meant "elder") were elected to guard the interests of the small churches. A bishop was made the head of all the communities within a single province. Peter, who had followed Paul to Rome, was the first Bishop of Rome. In due time his successors (who were addressed as Father or Papa) came to be known as Popes.

The church became a powerful institution within the empire. The Christian doctrines appealed to those who despised of this world. They also attracted many strong men who found it impossible to make a career under the imperial Government, but who could exercise their gifts of leadership among the humble followers of the Nazarene teacher. At last the state was obliged to take notice. The Roman Empire (I have said this before) was tolerant through indifference. It allowed everybody to seek salvation after his or her own fashion. But it insisted that the different sects keep the peace among themselves and obey the wise rule of "live and let live."

The Christian communities, however, refused to practice any sort of tolerance. They publicly declared that their God, and their God alone, was the true ruler of heaven and earth, and that all other gods were impostors. This seemed unfair to the other sects and the police discouraged such utterances. The Christians persisted.

Soon there were further difficulties. To a Christian, it was refused to go through the formalities of paying homage to the Emperor. They refused to appear when they were called upon to join the army. The Roman Magistrates threatened to punish them. The Christians answered that this miserable world was only the anteroom to a very pleasant heaven and that they were more than willing to suffer death for their principles. The Romans, puzzled by such conduct, sometimes killed the offenders, but more often they did not. There was a certain amount of tolerating during the earliest years of the church, but this was the work of that part of the mob which accused their meek Christian neighbors of every conceivable crime (such as slaughtering and eating babies, bringing about sickness and pestilence), betraying the country in times of danger) because it was in a harmless sport and devoid of danger, as the Christians refused to fight back.

Meanwhile, Rome continued to be invaded by the barbarians and when her armies failed, Christian missionaries went forth to preach their gospel of peace to the wild Teutons. They were strong men without fear of death. They spoke a language which left no doubt as to the future of unrepentant sinners. They still had a deep respect for the wisdom of the ancient city of Rome. They probably were Romans. They probably men were Romans. Soon the Christian missionary became a power in the savage regions of the Teutons and the Franks. Half a dozen missionaries were as valuable as a whole regiment of soldiers. The Emperors began to understand that the Christian might be of great use to them. In some of the provinces they were given equal rights with those who remained faithful to the old gods. The great change, however, came during the last half of the fourth century.

Constantine, sometimes (heaven knows why) called Constantine the Great, was Emperor. He was a terrible ruffian, but people of tender and in order to win, they were forced to refuse all compromise. The old gods must be destroyed. For a short spell, the Emperor Julian, a lover of Greek wisdom, managed to save the pagan gods from further destruction. But Julian died of his wounds during a campaign in Persia and his successor, Jovian, re-established the church in all its glory. One after the other the doors of the ancient temples were then closed. Then came the Emperor Justinian (who built the church of Saint Sophia in Constantinople), who discontinued the school of philosophy at Athens which had been founded by Plato.

That was the end of the old Greek world, in which man had been allowed to think his own thoughts and dream his own dreams according to his desires. The somewhat vague rules of conduct of the philosophers had proved a poor compass by which to steer the ship of life after a deluge of savagery and ignorance had swept away the established order of things. There was need of something more positive and more definite. This the church provided.

During an age when nothing was certain, the church stood like a rock and never receded from those principles which it held to be true and sacred. This steadfast courage gained the admiration of the multitudes and carried the church of Rome safely through the difficulties which destroyed the Roman state.

There was, however, a certain element of luck in the final success of the Christian faith. After the disappearance of Theodoric's Roman-Gothic kingdom, in the fifth century, Italy was comparatively free from foreign invasion. The Lombards and Saxons and Slavs who succeeded the Goths were weak and backward tribes. Under those circumstances it was possible for the Bishops of Rome to maintain the independence of their city. Soon the remnants of the empire, scattered throughout the peninsula, recognized the Dukes of Rome (or Bishops), as their political and spiritual rulers.

The stage was set for the appearance of a strong man. He came in the year 590 and his name was Gregory. He belonged to the ruling classes of ancient Rome, and he had been "prefect" or Mayor, of the city. Then he had become a monk and a Bishop, and, finally, so much against his will (for he wanted to be a missionary and preach Christianity to the heathen of England), he had been dragged to the church of St. Peter to be made Pope. He ruled only 14 years, but when he died the Christian world of Western Europe had officially recognized the Bishops of Rome, the Popes, as the head of the entire church.

This power, however, did not extend to the East. In Constantinople the Emperors continued the old custom which had recognized the successors of Augustus and Tiberius both as head of the Government and as High Priest of the Established Religion. In the year 453 the Eastern Roman Empire was conquered by the Turks. Constantinople was taken, and Constantine Paleologus, the last Roman Emperor, was killed on the steps of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

A few years before, Zoe, the daughter of his brother Thomas, had married Ivan III of Russia. In this way did the Grand-Dukes of Moscow fall heir to the traditions of Constantinople. The double-eagle of old Byzantium (reminiscent of the days when Rome had been divided into an Eastern and a Western part) became the coat of arms of modern Russia. The Tsar who had been merely the first of the Russian nobles, assumed the aloofness and the dignity of a Roman Emperor before whom all subjects, both high and low, were inconsiderable slaves.

The court was refashioned after the Oriental pattern which the Eastern Emperors had imported from Asia and from Egypt and which (so they flattered themselves) resembled the court of Alexander the Great. This strange inheritance which the dying Byzantine Empire bequeathed to an unassuming village continued to live with great vigor for six more centuries, amidst the vast plains of Russia. The last man to wear the crown with the double eagle of Constantinople, Tsar Nicholas, was murdered only the other day, so to speak. His body was thrown into a well. His son and his daughters were all killed. All his ancient rights and prerogatives were abolished, and the church was reduced to the position which it had held in Rome before the days of Constantine.

The Eastern church, however, fared very differently, as we shall see in the next chapter when the whole Christian world is going to be threatened with destruction by the rival creed of an Arab camel-driver.

THE FLIGHT OF MOHAMMED.

Ahmed, the Camel-Driver, who became the Prophet of the Arabian Desert, and Whose Followers Al-

Most Conquered the Entire Known World for the Greater Glory of Allah, the Only True God.

Since the days of Carthage and Hannibal we have said nothing of the Semitic people. You will remember how they filled all the chapters devoted to the story of the Ancient World. The Babylonians, the Assyrians, the Phoenicians, the Jews, the Arameans, the Chaldeans, all of them Semites, had been the rulers of Western Asia for thirty or forty centuries. They had been conquered by the Indo-European Persians who had come from the East and by the Indo-European Greeks, who had come from the West. A hundred years after the death of Alexander the Great, Carthage, a colony of Semitic Phoenicians, had fought the Indo-European Romans for the mastery of the Mediterranean. Carthage had been defeated and destroyed and for eight hundred years the Romans had been masters of the world. In the seventh century, however, another Semitic tribe appeared upon the scene and challenged the power of the West. They were the Arabs, peaceful shepherds who had roamed through the desert since the beginning of time without showing any signs of imperial ambitions.

They then listened to Mohammed, mounted their horses and in less than a century they had pushed to the heart of Europe and proclaimed the glories of Allah, "the only God," and Mohammed, "the prophet of the only God." To the frightened peasants of France.

The story of Ahmed, the son of Abdallah and Aminah (usually known as Mohammed, or "he who will be praised,") reads like a chapter in the "Thousand and One Nights." He was a camel-driver, born in Mecca. He seems to have been an epileptic and he suffered from spells of unconsciousness when he dreamed strange dreams and heard the voice of the angel Gabriel, whose words were afterwards written down in a book called the Koran. His work as a caravan leader carried him all over Arabia and he was constantly falling in with Jewish merchants and with Christian traders, and he came to see that the worship of a single God was a very excellent thing. His own people, the Arabs, still revered queer stones and trunks of trees as their ancestors had done, tens of thousands of years before. In Mecca, their holy city, stood a little square building, the Kaaba, full of idols and strange odds and ends of Hoo-doo worship.

Mohammed decided to be the Moses of the Arab people. He could not well be a prophet and a camel-driver at the same time. So he made himself independent by marrying a rich widow, the rich widow Chaddia. Then he told his neighbors in Mecca that he was the longest expected prophet sent by Allah to save the world. The neighbors laughed most heartily and when Mohammed continued to annoy them with his speeches they decided to kill him. They regarded him as a lunatic and a public bore who deserved no mercy. Mohammed heard of the plot and in the dark of night he fled to Medina, together with Abu Bakr, his trusted pupil. This happened in the year 622. It is the most important date in Mohammedan history and is known as the Hegira—the year of the great flight.

EQUIPMENT MADE BY NURSES ON EXHIBITION

Articles for Use in Treating Diseases Prepared by Eight Graduates in Lieu of Examination.

Eight of the students who were graduated last night in the Department of Public Health of the Missouri University School of Social Hygiene, have on exhibition at the public health center and nurses' training school at 2333 South Broadway, equipment of their own making for use in school health work, tuberculosis treatment, bedside nursing and prenatal treatment.

The work was done under the supervision of Miss Grace L. Anderson, supervisor of municipal nurses and director of the school, who arranged the exhibition in lieu of the customary final written examination which all postgraduate nurses heretofore have been obliged to take.

Entered School in January.
The eight graduates entered the school the latter part of January, devoting five weeks each to the care of tuberculosis patients, investigation of health conditions in parochial schools in the district, care and advice in prenatal cases and the care of babies, and care of patients in what is known as "bedside nursing." This enables each girl to gain sufficient experience in general nursing and affords an intensive training.

A nurse, maintained in each parochial school in the district, reports daily to Miss Anderson the health conditions of the children, giving advice and offering treatment by a physician or dentist obtained by the school in cases where parents feel they cannot afford the expense of medical attention. Special emphasis is laid upon rural nursing, the students being taught how to treat cases with a limited supply of medicines and equipment.

The graduates secured posters and literature in explanation of the various branches of nursing by way of stressing the educational value of combating such diseases as tuberculosis and caring for children.

Has Trained 175 Nurses.
Since 1919, when it was organized under the auspices of the Red Cross, the school has trained 175 graduate nurses. Many of them have remained to become municipal nurses or to enter upon social and welfare work. The school provides as a laboratory or training ground for its students that section of the city from Lamb street on the north to 43rd on Broadway and from Jefferson avenue to the river.
The city has not supported the training school, all contributions having come from individuals or, in many cases, from the Red Cross.
But the city has been chiefly dependent upon the training school for its supply of municipal nurses, and the University of Missouri has seriously considered including it as part of the School of Social Economy.
Expenses have been, on the average, about $19,000 a year. The school has lately experienced some difficulty in carrying on its work on account of lack of funds.

Don't Trifle With Constipation —If You Expect to Be Healthy!

Constipation "knocks-the-spots" out of men, women and children! Yet, it is about the last thing that the average person tries to correct—until it is too late!

Eliminate constipation and the slightest constipation symptoms—QUICKLY! Once constipation gets a strangle-hold on your intestines your body is thrown open to diseases such as Bright's and diabetes, which are directly caused by constipation. Hardening of the arteries, most cases of rheumatism and numerous other diseases have their inception in constipation, which also causes premature old age, dull brains and makes sufferers sluggish.

As dangerous and annoying as constipation is; as terrifying as its possibilities are, yet you can permanently relieve it with Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled! Bran is not a "remedy," but it is nature's own food—roughage—that acts on the eliminative passages in nature's way, sweeping, cleaning, purifying! Your physician will endorse Kellogg's Bran for constipation.

We guarantee that Kellogg's Bran will relieve the severest case of constipation IF IT IS EATEN REGULARLY—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, eat it with each meal.

And Kellogg's Bran is delicious—its nut-like flavor appeals to the most fastidious appetites. Use Kellogg's Bran as a cereal or sprinkle it over your favorite cereal; or, it can be used to make delightful raisin bread, gems, pancakes and a host of good things—and all the time working for health. Buy Kellogg's Bran at grocers.

GREATER ECONOMY PRACTICED IN EXPENDITURES AT VATICAN

Pope Considering Abolishing Stables, Replacing Carriages by Automobiles.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, June 9.—Pope Pius is reported to be showing his powers of organization and economy even in small matters, drawing the purse strings of the Vatican much closer than did his predecessor.

Benedict XV approved with slight examination the estimates for upkeep, furniture and repairs, especially for the apartments of the high prelates and officials of the apostolic palace. Pius has fixed 500 lire, equal to about $26 monthly, for ordinary small repairs, and has appointed a committee consisting of Cardinals Gasparri, De Lai and Sbarretti, to examine every detail to see whether it is absolutely necessary.

The Vatican stables still contain a few old black horses with long tails and the heavy black carriages which are used to transport to the Vatican for court service those ecclesiastics and officials who possess no vehicles of their own. The Pope is now attempting to ascertain whether it would not be cheaper to abolish the stables, replacing the old equipages with a couple of automobiles.

MRS. SANGSTER SEEKS $14,662 JUDGMENT AGAINST HUSBAND

Amount Asked For to Pay Expenses in Event She Should Appeal Divorce Suit to Supreme Court.

Mrs. Robert D. Sangster, wife of the Industrial Commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday filed a motion in the Court of Domestic Relations for a judgment against her husband of $14,662.50 with which to pay expenses should it become necessary to appeal her divorce suit to the Missouri Supreme Court. Judge Garesche recently dismissed her divorce suit and her husband's crossbill. Both have filed motions for a new trial.

In the plea for appeal expense, Mrs. Sangster recites it would cost $1350 to furnish a transcript of the testimony and $3000 for abstracting and printing the record. In addition she would need $10,000 as a reasonable fee for her lawyers.

Pending final settlement of the case, Mrs. Sangster further asks that the defendant be required to pay her $500 a month for her support. She avers that the $200 a month he is now paying is not sufficient for her household expenses and to make ends meet she has to keep roomers in her home at 5159 Raymond avenue, thereby necessitating her and her children living in the garret. Sangster's salary is said to be $12,000 a year.

Appeals in divorce cases usually are to the St. Louis Court of Appeals. Mrs. Sangster designates the Supreme Court because the former tribunal has jurisdiction in cases involving $7500 or less, while her case, she says, involves a total of $180,000 alimony based on her life expectancy of 30 years at the rate of $6000 a year, which sum she is demanding.

Bids for Pump Advertised.
Bids for a new city waterworks pump, designed to increase the water pressure in the southeast section of the city, between Gravois avenue and the river, were advertised today by the Board of Public Service. The pump is to be the seventh 20,000,000-gallon pump at the Bissell's Point station and will cost approximately $190,000.

We Take It That When a Tournament Golf Player Is Six Down, It's About All Up With Him

Meramec Nine, Coached by Woman, Defeats Marquette Team 5 to 1 In Public School Title Final

McLaughlin Pitches Fine Game for Victors and His Home Run in the First Score Devereaux Ahead of Him—Winners to Get Post-Dispatch Trophy and Medals.

Superb hurling by Pitcher McLaughlin, of the Meramec School, plus fine play by the Marquette School nine, gave the South Side team a victory in the final for the public school baseball championship of the city, yesterday afternoon, at High School Field, in a seven-inning game, 5 to 1. Several hundred persons saw the Meramec team win the third silver Post-Dispatch trophy for the first time. Individual gold medals commemorating the victory will also be presented to the members of the winning team by the Post-Dispatch.

The members of the winning team who will receive medals are: Ralph Devereaux, Earl Kuter, Raymond Strubel, Melvin McLaughlin, John Kroner, Elmer O'Brien, Elmer Fuller, Harold Schmitt, Ernest Helke, Henry Wagner, Ernest Dugach, Oliver Schmitt.

In one respect the winning team is unique—it was coached by a woman, Miss Elsie Staroske, a teacher at the Meramec School. Her handling of the players from the South Side was one of the surprises of the year.

McLaughlin, a well-known boy of 15 years, was an important factor in the game, even not counting his pitching. His home-run drive in the opening inning, with Devereaux on base, in itself was enough to insure the team victory. In addition he pitched a great game, allowing the enemy only six hits. Neither pitcher gave a base on balls.

Anderson Handed Good Game. Anderson, who pitched for the losing nine, deserved a better fate. Brown and weak efforts by his teammates proved costly.

In the first inning Anderson reeled two batters handily, and Devereaux's crack should have been the third out, but slow handling and a rather wide toss gave the little shortstop a safety. McLaughlin's home run followed.

The third score of this inning resulted when Left Fielder Moore allowed Strubel's left to roll through his legs, giving the runner three sacks. Fuller's hit scored Strubel, Marquette's second, a lone tally in the opening. A double to center by Glass, followed by Anderson's one-batter to the same spot, netted the count.

After this inning Marquette was unable to supply the punch with runners on the path.

McLaughlin There in the Pinch. In the fifth Schickles led off with a triple to right, but was left stranded when McLaughlin made one man pop to him, the next fan and his third ground out to first base.

Meramec scored one more in the third. Kuter was hit by a pitched ball, scored and scored on Devereaux's single to right, followed by an infield out. The last run dented the home rubber in the sixth. Strubel tripled to center and scored when Couch bunted Fuller's hot drive down the third-base line. The Schickles of Marquette was the hitting king of the day, a triple and two singles being his contribution.

One of the features of the game was the control exhibited by both pitchers. Anderson hit one batter and fanned seven. McLaughlin made five swing and miss.

KOLEHMAINEN'S RECORD WILL NOT STAND; TRACK IS 478 METERS SHORT
HELSINKI, Finland, June 8.—The mark set here yesterday by Hannes Kolehmainen, American runner, will not stand as a world's record, remeasurement of the track showing it to be 478 meters short of the 35 kilometers required. The record for the distance of one hour, 26 minutes and 20.6 seconds was established by Kolehmainen in 1910. His run yesterday was completed in one hour, 22 minutes, 40 seconds.

Manion to Meet Wolff Tomorrow In District Final

Midland Valley Star Victor Over Roger Lord While Former Champion Defeats Triple A Player.

By Joseph F. Holland, Of The Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
Clarence L. Wolff of Sunset Hill Country Club, former champion of the St. Louis District Golf Association, will contest for the title again tomorrow when he opposes James S. Manion of Midland Valley Country Club in the 36-hole final match over the Bellevue Country Club course.

Manion was runner-up to Richard Bockenkamp, also of Midland Valley, in the district tournament of last year.

Manion won the right to compete for the title yesterday by defeating Roger E. Lord, Algonquin, in the semifinal, 6 up and 4 to play. Simultaneously, Wolff was disposing of Frank Montgomery, Triple A champion, in the lower bracket, 5 up and 4 to play.

There will be no individual play today. Teams representing the various clubs in the district will play for the entire double round. Each team will consist of four men. A foursome, including Manion, Midland Valley; Wolff, Sunset Hill; Lord, Algonquin, and Lawrence Watts, Country Club, should attract particular attention.

Each Played Under Par. Wolff and Manion each played better than par golf in their matches yesterday. This indicates that there is little to choose between them, but Manion is favored by reason of his wondrous play under fire. Wolff has not been hard pressed during the entire tournament, whereas Manion has won only one match in which he was not just a step ahead of his opponent.

Manion won his match on the thirty-second green, just as Wolff did, but Jimmy and Lord played their match out to the final hole. For the entire double round over the links Jimmy turned in a card of 143, one stroke under par for the course. Wolff played 32 holes in 127, one stroke under par for the distance.

Manion is generally regarded as the stronger of the two and strength tells in a tramp over 12,000 yards of course of hills and valleys. However, Wolff has the better style. They are as evenly matched as two golfers could possibly be, but Manion will enter the championship match tomorrow as a general favorite.

Both Gain Lead on Second Nine. Oddly enough, both Manion and Wolff compiled their winning advantages on the second nine holes of their morning round. Manion and Lord were all square at the ninth, but when the eighteenth had been concluded Jimmy was 5 up.

To gain this advantage he had a 33, two under par, against Lord's 38. In the afternoon round Lord played Manion even, stroke for stroke, but the titular favorite refused to break. Lord finished the final 18 in 71, exactly the same score turned in by Manion. Manion's total score was 143, one below par, while Lord's score was 148.

An odd situation was revealed at the third-tee green just after the Lord had lost the match. An iron club, which he used on chip shots to the green, had been missing from

Hole-by-Hole Play in District Golf Tourney

Following is a complete table of the play of the four semi-finalists yesterday. The table shows the hole played, its length, par, the scores of the two players on each hole and the advantage possessed by the leading contestant. "M" denotes Manion and "W" Wolff.

FURTHER PROTEST AGAINST CANAL BY GRANITE CITY CLUB

Resolution in Regard to East Side Drainage Project Adopted at Meeting of Commercial Club.

PETITION CIRCULATED
AMONG TAXPAYERS

Proposition Called Menace to Entire District and Wrongful Abuse of Power by Those Responsible.

Further protest against resuming construction of the proposed $3,000,000 drainage canal to divert rain-water from the bluffs east of Granite City, Madison, Venice and East St. Louis, and the continued assessment of taxes to carry on the work was expressed in a resolution adopted last night by the Granite City Commercial Club, which is preparing for court action to test the legality of the canal project.

Following the adoption of the resolution, petitions calling for the abandonment of the canal were circulated among taxpayers of Granite City.

At the same time the East End Improvement Association of East St. Louis, representing property owners east of Forty-sixth street, announced that a mass meeting of taxpayers will be held Monday night in the Edgemont Baptist Church at Eighty-sixth and State streets, East St. Louis, at which time some action of protest against the canal project will be taken.

The resolution pointed out that the Board of Trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District Wednesday, by a vote of 3 to 2, had authorized resumption of the work, which previously had been halted by the same board by a vote of 3 to 1.

Wordings of Resolution.

After reviewing briefly the levee board's action, the resolution concludes as follows:

"The members of the Granite City Commercial Club again protest against the resumption of the construction of the canal, and the payment of taxes growing out of any pretended contract for the construction of the project for the reason that the project as planned and set on foot is, in the opinion of the members of this body, beyond the powers of the Levee Board, is without any merit whatsoever, is of no value at any time to this sanitary district, is a threatened menace to the entire district in time of high water and is wrongful abuse of power by all those who are responsible for the project."

As has been stated, widespread interest on the part of the taxpayers of the East Side was aroused by a comprehensive survey of the drainage canal project published in the Post-Dispatch May 28. Following publication of that article, which traced the history of the project from its inception and noted the unusual and often evil influence which the development of the project had exercised on civic events, the Granite City Commercial Club, through its counsel, notified the Levee Board that resumption of work on the proposed canal would be met with court action. Later the East End Improvement Association decided to call a mass meeting to protest against the project, and the East Side Manufacturers' Association of Granite City and the Granite City Realty Club endorsed the action of the Granite City Commercial Club.

Protests From Taxpayers.

Many taxpayers had from time to time protested to the Levee Board against being taxed $1.43 on the $100 valuation for a canal, which, it was claimed, would not only fail to serve any good purpose, but would actually be a menace in the event the Mississippi River should reach a flood stage. These protests were ignored. Members of the East End Improvement Association complained that letters sent to the East St. Louis Journal protesting against the project were not published. It was pointed out that as the taxation would be continued from year to year until the canal is paid for, the taxpayers would have to pay the $1.43 rate for at least eight or nine years.

Publication of the project's history in the Post-Dispatch had the effect of arousing the taxpayers to what was going on and sentiment opposing the project began to crystallize. It has been said by officers of the various organizations interested that only public sentiment can be relied upon to stop the canal project.

Telephone Men's First Aid Contest.

More than 1200 employees of the Bell Telephone Co. are expected to attend a first aid contest, in co-operation with the Red Cross, at Monahan Temple at 8 o'clock tonight. Seven picked teams will compete in various tests and demonstrations of handling different types of injuries. The winning team will be awarded the Nina cup. Commodore W. E. Longfellow, head of the American Red Cross life saving corps, will speak on first aid methods.

Women and Insurance

By WINIFRED BLACK.

WHO'S the best life insurance risk—do you suppose? The banker, the insurance man, the farmer, the traveling man, the actor, the musician, the shopkeeper, the policeman, the preacher or the school teacher?

Not a single one of them—no, not the housewife; no, not the nursemaid; no, not the actress—yes, the business woman.

Just the plain, every-day, common-sense business woman of North America.

Mr. Winslow Russell, secretary of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co., says so, and if Mr. Russell doesn't know what he means when he says it, especially when he's talking about life insurance, who does, pray tell?

Have Women Changed?

Better than the young business man?

"Yes," says Mr. Russell.

"She's a better risk because she's more thrifty, more frugal and more saving than her brother. We aren't guessing or theorizing. It's our business to know—and we know.

Now girls, how do you feel about it?

And it isn't so very long ago that a woman had to pay an extra premium because all women were rated as bad risks.

Have all women changed, or have the insurance companies waked up? I think it is a little of both. It used to be fashionable to be delicate and frail and ailing. All the popular heroines fainted or had headaches or backaches or something.

Dear me, I haven't seen a girl with a backache for at least 10 years.

And 20 years ago no girl was a perfect lady who didn't lie down with a splitting headache at least once every two or three weeks, and we couldn't lift things, and we mustn't run up and down stairs, and we shouldn't walk too far, and we must never—oh, never—climb hills.

What a time the girls used to have, trying to pretend they really had to keep all these rules, and now they ride and skate and swim and hike and jump just like the boys and don't seem to be the least bit in the world worse for it.

Women have learned how to have a good time and take care of themselves, too.

But what's more important than that, they've learned to work for a living, and if you work for a living you can't afford to be "delicate."

If you are, you won't be working for a living very long.

Somebody who isn't delicate will get your job while you're at home with a headache.

Consider These Facts.

And the life insurance companies have come to, out of a date of years, and they've opened their eyes and looked some plain facts in the face.

Great people for facts, the insurance companies. They can't pay much attention to prejudices or fads. What they want is a list of figures, just plain, old-fashioned figures.

Death notices and birth certificates—these tell the story.

"More thrifty, more frugal, more saving."

To be sure, she is. The average young fellow who's drawing $25 per week is in debt most of the time.

He's in debt to his landlady, in debt to his club, in debt to his chum and more often than not there is a little pink slip or so against him at the cashier's office, too. Clothes cost money, and so do restaurants, and so do cigars and cigarettes, and so does Kelly pool, and so do "parties."

The average business girl doesn't spend her money on these things. Her fingers are not yellow with nicotine and her nerves are not shaky with tobacco or late hours, and she lasts longer—that's the plain English of it.

Sometimes it pays to listen to the insurance man. What do you think about it, girls?

Leftover Soup.

LEFTOVER vegetable soup may be varied for a second service by skimming off the grease, straining out the vegetables, and reheating with a bit of fresh seasoning, then adding tiny quick soup dumplings, macaroni, barley, rice or tapioca. Or the soup may be turned into a cream soup by an equal amount of hot milk being added, a little soda having been put into the milk, and the whole soup thickened with butter and flour mixed to a cream. Most of the heavy soups can be warmed and thinned a little for second service.

APPLE MUFFINS

WORK a scant half cupful of butter smooth with two tablespoonfuls of rather stiff apple sauce. Beat one egg into a cupful of milk, sift in a level teaspoonful each of salt and sugar and a cupful and a half of whole wheat flour. Sift with the flour three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat well and pour into 12 greased muffin cups. Bake about 20 minutes.

The famous first telegraphic message, "What hath God wrought?" was dictated by a woman, Miss Anna Ellsworth.

The Woman Who Wins Him Away

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB.

HAVE you ever stopped to consider, little wife, why the other woman has won him away from you? What have you done? What has she done? What has he done?

Things don't just happen; there is a reason for everything. And if you search deep you will find it. Men don't just say, "I'm going to look for another woman that I will like more than my wife," and then proceed to do it.

Besides, women who win such men away are not all bad women by any manner of means. Many of them are good women—as good as you.

And such women deplore, indeed, and regret that they are giving you trouble.

"Oh, yes, you have the prior right," you will say, "and a woman of honor will have no friendship with the man who has married you." Yet have you ever stopped to think of the circumstances that led up to the state of affairs of which you complain so bitterly, and which have given you such endless sorrow?

How much have you been to blame for the whole matter? And how much, or how little, have you done to hold him fast against any woman?

One of the saddest stories in the world was told me by the woman who won him away. The wife in this instance, although she loved her husband dearly, and felt secure in his love, yet was the kind of woman that had little or no interest in the affairs of her husband, except as they affected her.

The woman who won him away—he met her unexpectedly in a business transaction—was sympathetic to his work and interested in it, and was glad to talk about it.

At first he invited her out to a harmless little luncheon to discuss commercial matters in which they were both interested.

"It was the last thing that I expected," the woman who won him away told me, "when I realized the true situation—that we both liked each other more than our business relations warranted."

"I remember once when I said to him that the whole thing was wrong, and that I was taking from her, his wife, something—the love—that belonged to her."

"His answer was, 'How can you take from her that which is yours? What you have called out in me belongs to you and to no one else. You inspired whatever feeling there is there. It is yours. I can't help caring for you. It is something beyond me.'"

And yet she sent him away and refused to see him. And the result is that three people are miserable—waiting for the inevitable.

The wife continues to nag her husband when he does not give her the material things she wants. She does little or nothing to adapt herself to his circumstances. She has given little and demanded much—all because she has the legal right.

But it does not always turn out this way. Many a man refuses to return to his wife after he has met the woman who has won him away.

As one man told me: "I could not help noting the contrast between my wife and the other woman. My wife never had tried to please me very much because of her sole proprietorship of me."

"As I look on it, I loved my wife dearly when I married her, and had she continued to show the same interest in me as the years went by

I am confident I would never have sought anyone else."

And this is the truth about many a case. It is the careless attitude that many a woman has for her husband that causes someone else to come in at the psychological moment and get him away, and vice versa. What people generally fail to do is to seek the source of their own shortcomings.

Spanish String Beans.

COOK string beans in salted water until tender. Drain. Fry a good-sized onion golden brown in olive oil. Add some chopped parsley, two tiny red peppers, two cups of strained tomatoes and salt to taste. Let simmer on back of stove until it becomes thick. Add string beans to this sauce and let cook for 15 minutes, taking great care to turn. (Beware of the tiny red peppers mentioned here. One may be plenty for most people.)

BRAN DOUGHNUTS

ONE and one-half cups bran, one and one-half cups flour, one tablespoon butter or lard, one egg, two teaspoons baking powder, one-quarter cup sugar, one-half cup milk, one teaspoon salt, cream butter and sugar, add egg well beaten. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add to the first mixture. Roll on a floured board. Cut with a doughnut cutter. Fry in very hot deep fat. This will make three dozen doughnuts.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

SAID Helms Groh to Pat Moran.
"You'll have to raise my pay.
Or otherwise I have a plan
To amble on my way."
So lending an unwilling ear
To Helms's bold defiance,
Patricio shed a silent tear
And sold him to the Giants.

And then the Cincinnati Reds
Stood Muggsy's boys upon their heads.

Then up spoke Eddie Roush and said:
"I really must decline.
To be a disappointed Red.
At Cincy-on-the-Rhine."
Said he, "I'll go away from here
Unless I get the dough."
So Patsy shed another tear
And told him he could go.

Whereat the Cincys took a brace
And went a most terrific pace.

Then members of the pitching staff,
All idols of the stands,
Into the owners eased the gaff,
Preferring their demands.
"Twas twenty-thousand bucks per year,
Those burlers craved apiece;
So Patsy shed another tear,
And gave them their release.

The Reds, emerging from the hole,
Then knocked their rivals for a goal.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

JUST BEFORE THE SHOOTING STARTED.

JUST before hostilities ended in 1918 a young Lieutenant of my acquaintance was detailed to duty as a drill officer at a camp of colored draft troops in Mississippi. When he got back home again after the armistice he told this story:

He said that late one night he was returning from a nearby town to his quarters. As he neared the sentry lines, out of the darkness came a voice calling "Halt!"

He halted, gave the countersign and started on. Immediately, in the gloom, there was a rattle as of a rifle being shifted in the sentry's hands, and again the same voice cried: "Halt!"

"You've halted me once already," he said, sharply, rightly figuring the unseen one must be a green trooper, "and I've given you the password. What more do you want?"

"But, boss," said the sentry, drawing nearer, "I don't know you."
"Very probable," said the Captain. "What has that got to do with it?"

"It's got a whole heap to do with it. When the Sergeant put me yere tought he p'intedly sez to me dat if somebody comes by w'ich is a stranger to me I is to cry 'Halt!' three times and den shoot 'em."
